The Nevada Stars.

The Stars were advertised by the Examiner to play a game with the Tufts-Lyons. It would look as though the Examiner desired to keep its honors in California and was bound to bring California teams against the Stars until they should be defeated. Manager Ryan said before leaving Virginia that he would play the Tufts-Lyons for gate money, but before he would permit the Examiner to run him up against two California teams for the championship he would pack up and come home. We hope he will stick to his decision.—Enterprise.

The boys decided not to play the two games for the championship of California. The Virginia Chronicle defends the action of the Nevada Stars baseball nine concerning the comments of the Examiner thusly: "The Examiner is the meanest paper on the Pacific Coast. After boasting in fulsome terms of its princely hospitality, it treated the Nevada Stars more shabbily than a tramp would be treated on the Comstock. It took in about $4,000 in gate receipts at the Nevada Star-Alerts baseball game, yet it grudged paying the lousy few dollars of expenses incurred by the Stars and it cut their bill from $82 to $75. The Stars are of the opinion that it is a dirty, contemptible liar and a thorough-going newspaper hog.

J. J. Quinn.

All county affairs are in the hands of the commissioners. None but good, high-minded unprejudiced, capable, honest men should be trusted to handle the affairs of the county. Such a man is J. J. Quinn of Reno, nominated by the Populists for Commissioner, long term. He is one of the pioneers of the county, a man of the strictest integrity, with no strings on him and no liability of there being any. He is independent, being a heavy taxpayer and a good business man. He is interested in White Horse, pays Wadsworth an occasional visit and is well known here. He would make a first-class officer.

"Emmanuel."

Chapel car "Emmanuel" is in town and on the side track opposite the passenger depot. Services Sunday as follows: Preaching at 11 A. M., Sunday School at 3 P. M., and a general Gospel service in the evening at 7:30. All are welcome. Seats are free.
B. B. JACQUES, Manager.

The Carson Appeal says Mrs. Bessie Murphy enjoys the distinction of being the first lady to secure a patent. She has patented a handy pot lid which by reason of being perforated with holes enables the water to be drawn off from cooked vegetables without lifting the lid. Housewives who recall how many times the potatoes have been dumped into the sink, will bless Mrs. Murphy forever for this simple contrivance. The lid also has a slide which closes the holes when desired and the apparatus can be regulated so as to let the steam escape in quantities to suit.
